Aviators' Maps of El Paso Shown to Local Adclub

Complete photographic maps of El Paso taken recently from an airplane 10,000 feet in the air were exhibited at the weekly meeting of the El Paso Adclub Friday noon at the chamber of commerce grill. These maps were taken by Bert Hiles aviators under the direction of Lieut. E. Abney, who has charge of the photographic section in this district.

With the aid of these photographs and a blackboard the army officers told the admen just how the pictures were taken. A special camera which he had with him was used for this work. It has two magazines, one loaded with 35 plates on top and another for receiving exposed plates at the bottom. When the camera flies across an area these plates are exposed and shot into the receiving magazine. When the pictures are taken they are developed and matched by experts into a mosaic that appears to be one single map of the area. In taking the photographs a uniform altitude must be maintained.

One of the photo-maps showed how the railroads run through the center of the city and take up hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of valuable property. The city planning commission is after these maps, the officers said, as a means of showing the location of every physical feature in the city.

Another speaker Friday noon was T. C. Scroggs, president of the American Trust and Savings bank. Mr. Scroggs talked mainly about the new method of advertising which has attracted such wide attention in The Herald recently. The speaker said that a short time ago when he was in New York he took lunch with a bank president there and talked about the El Paso Trust and Savings bank, who is now 54, said he was in El Paso when he was 17, but was not favorably impressed because two men were killed as they came out of a saloon while the banker was passing. To show what El Paso is now, the American Trust and Savings bank is running photographs of local buildings and local scenery and when the series is completed, copies in booklet form will be mailed to the New York banker.

John Hegan said a philosophical treatise in respect of Good Friday at the opening of the luncheon, showing the relation between the truth of the world's philosophies and modern business life, particularly advertising.

Arthur Milliken announced that he, John Hegan and Dr. Floyd Poe would go to San Antonio April 21 and 22 to attend the state convention of advertising men. Ray Shelton announced that the first Spanish class of the mileman's club, of which he is president, will open at 8 o'clock tonight at the chamber of commerce.

POST REVEALS ALIEN EVIDENCE

Washington, D. C., April 2.—(By the Associated Press.) Acting secretary Post decided today that the House immigration committee had taken possession of evidence in the case of aliens recently ordered deported, and subsequently released as announced yesterday by chairman Johnson, of the house committee.

Mr. Post said without making any previous request, the committee, accompanied by the house sergeant at arms, yesterday called to see the evidence. He told them, he said, that the department would cooperate in examination of the documents relating to aliens. The secretary added that he had written a formal letter to representative Johnson.

The committee chairman, in his announcement yesterday said the evidence had not been removed from the department's files, but that it had been placed in charge of a subcommittee composed of Messrs. C. C. Brannan, of Colorado, and J. W. Dyer, of California. Mr. Johnson today issued the following statement:

"Chairman Johnson said it was the hope of the committee that in view of facilities offered by acting secretary Post it would not be necessary to remove from the department of labor any files relative to deportation matters."

The committee, which is investigating radical agitation is represented as being dissatisfied with the manner in which the department of labor has handled the case of several hundred of the 1000 and more persons arrested in recent raids by the department of justice on the headquarters and localities of the Russian Communist party.

Dyer, allied with the Communists and that the Communist organization has been active in the overthrow of the United States government by force. The department of justice is also known to be dissatisfied with the manner in which the department of labor has proceeded on the deportation warrants.
